STANDING ORDER

Pursuant to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (“CDC”) Guidance released on July 27, 2021,¹ this Order hereby supersedes Standing Order 21-10, dated June 10, 2021, which has been revised as reflected herein to conform with the new guidance provided by the CDC. This Standing Order shall control all aspects of the Court’s response to the COVID-19 pandemic moving forward with the exception that any further extension of the authorization for video and audio teleconferencing pursuant to The CARES Act² shall be handled by separate order.

Current COVID-19 Conditions Within District

The Court notes the less favorable national and local trends in both the daily COVID-19 infection rates and test-positivity rates from the more favorable rates experienced in the prior months. The Court also notes that, while more individuals are receiving COVID-19 vaccinations

² See SO-20-08 (Mar. 30, 2020), <https://www.tned.uscourts.gov/sites/tned/files/SO-20-08.pdf>, authorizing video and teleconferencing during COVID-19 pursuant to the CARES Act, extended by SO-20-14 (June 22, 2020), SO-20-17 (Sep. 23, 2020), SO-21-07 (Mar. 16, 2021), and SO-21-11 (Jun 23, 2021). Pursuant to SO-21-23, available at <https://www.tned.uscourts.gov/sites/tned/files/SO-21-07.pdf>, the authorization for video and teleconferencing is set to expire by September 21, 2021, at the latest.

throughout the United States, the pace of vaccinations has slowed and less than 40% of Tennesseans are fully vaccinated.³

Of particular concern is the spike in new cases arising from increased transmissibility and concentration associated with some strains of the virus. A larger number of fully vaccinated residents are testing positive for the virus, and there is concern that people may transmit the disease even after receiving the vaccine.

Accordingly, the Court finds that certain restrictions are still necessary to reduce the possibility of exposure to the virus and to continue to slow the disease.

Therefore, it is ORDERED, effective immediately:
